The energy everyone has makes SEG pitches so much more special than other pitches. My cohort was so warm, and we were all rooting for each other, which is not how a normal pitch contest works. So I really appreciated all of that.

ERIC MOYAL, PROJECT INSULIN

Eric Moyal's transformative journey from a SEG Fall 2023 Impact Accelerator participant to a $10,000 Citizens prize-winning entrepreneur at the 2024 Impact Business Showcase highlights his unwavering commitment to revolutionizing healthcare accessibility.

As founder of Project Insulin, a Rhode Island-based social enterprise, Eric is tackling the critical issue of insulin affordability, with a goal of ensuring that everyone, regardless of financial circumstances, can access this life-saving medication.

Receiving this prize is not just a validation of BORN-O UNIFORMS' potential but also a thrilling affirmation that our vision for fashionable, comfortable, and affordable medical uniforms has been recognized and embraced by others.

ELISABETH BORNO, BORN-O UNIFORMS

BORN-O UNIFORMS has quickly emerged as a leader in sustainable and comfortable medical apparel. BORN-O has outfitted thousands of medical professionals with high-quality, eco-friendly, and size inclusive uniforms designed to enhance their performance and well-being.

Elisabeth's pitch earned a first place $2,500 prize at SEG's Fall 2023 Impact Accelerator Pitch Night. Months later, she won the $1,000 Audience Choice award at SEG's 2024 Impact Business Showcase. With the prize funding, BORN-O UNIFORMS is poised to further expand their product line and reach.
